Our Lives

7039473

Being a Catholic school, Bishop Dwenger takes great pride and joy in its religious foundation. Through community Masses and reflection services, students come to understand their relationship with God. Our faith was the constant which set us apart and united us. Some members of the senior class, prepared to make a deep commitment to their faith, became Eucharistic ministers and conducted communion services in the chapel. Many students contributed their time and talent to help make the many Dwenger community celebrations memorable. The Pastoral Care Team, in particular, offered their time and talent towards making the celebrations possible. There was never a shortage of volunteers who were willing to participate in the celebration itself or in the planning and writing of the service. The Masses at Bishop Dwenger were truly "student celebrations."

One day everything was a blur of hats, plaids, stripes, polka dots, costume jewelry and glitter. Nothing looked right. The students weren't blind, even though their clothes didn't look at all coordinated. The students were living up to the expectations of "Clash Day". The next day put everyone back into the Southwestern days in the 1800's. Boots, spurs, hats, and holsters were worn by all. Stick ponies transported students to class. Cap-gun duels were fought in the halls. This was "Western Day". For the two days following, students dressed in suits, dresses, and high heels. The halls and cafeteria were decorated with posters, balloons, and streamers. What did all of this mean? "Spirit Week" at B.D. High!

The 1980 Homecoming was a huge success! During the day, a record crowd of students participated in the festivities. Students got involved in pudding-eating, best leg, egg-throwing, cakewalk, and other contests. In the evening, there was a large turn-out for the football game. Even though we lost to North Side, the excitement of the evening was not lost. At half-time, prom queen Beth Shubert was crowned. After the game, many couples attended the homecoming dance.

Dwenger: Something For Everyone

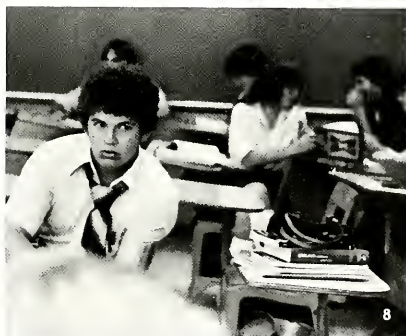

In keeping with Dwenger's tradition for scholastic excellence, the school's administration offered an unparalleled academic program. Along with the usual history, science, English, math, home economics, music, and business courses, many new honors courses were added. Many gifted students enjoyed the challenge of participating in an honors course. The freshmen were initiated into high-school-level work while many seniors staggered under the load of weighted classes. While some seniors prepared for vocations, others looked forward to college. The infamous college-prep course, which every student cursed while he took but afterward acknowledged its helpfulness, accustomed seniors to college-level work. Other courses aided students in their college preparation.

In addition to and supplementing the fine academic program at Dwenger, the high quality BD teaching staff made this year a truly outstanding one. Lending their support and knowledge, teachers, advisers, and coaches urged and encouraged students to always strive to give 100%. A great debt is owed the teachers who took a special interest in the students and gave their time and leadership in the form of activities. Teachers also had to adjust to the snow days and fog days, no matter how much they upset the lesson plan!

Academics: The B.D. Staple

The high-quality academic program at Bishop Dwenger challenged the students to excel. Many areas of study were pursued: music, science, math, art, home-economics, writing, theology, band, and business. Throughout the year, the faculty faithfully instructed the students. A new concept in career planning was attempted. During the semester interim, a "career week" was scheduled. All students participated in the welcome break from studies. Many programs supplemented the regular instruction at BD. Special honors courses were established to challenge the especially adept students, and they proved successful. Dwenger's tradition of academic excellence enriched yet another year.

Co-Valedictorian Peggy Bass gives her speech at the dinner.

Co-Valedictorians Sue Carroll and Peggy Bass, the Bishop, and Salutatorian Anne Schoenle.

The 1981 Baccalaureate was on May 29th. Mass was held at the Cathedral and was celebrated by Bishop McMannus, the graduates, family, teachers, and friends. The Bishop asked all graduates to stand during his homily, as his words were aimed towards the graduates.

After Mass, dinner was served at the Scottish Rite. Co-Valedictorians Peggy Bass and Susie Carroll and Salutatorian Anne Schoenle were honored and each gave a speech. Seniors were recognized for outstanding academic records as well as for participation in various activities. The evening proved to be enjoyable for all.

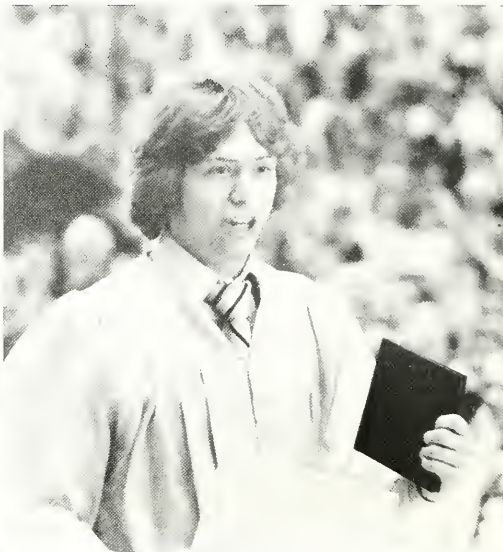

The Bishop had all graduates on their feet during his inspiring homily.

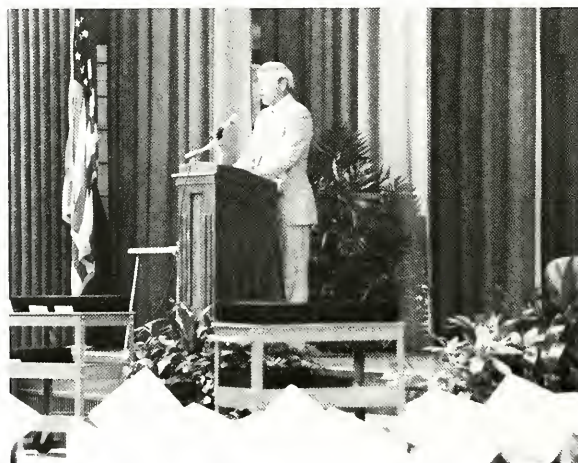

Presenting: The Class Of 1981

There was an unexpectedly large crowd at graduation: all of the seniors showed up!

Andre McConnell lets out a sigh of relief as he receives his diploma.

Mr. Gaughan gives the seniors advice and reminds them of the importance of intestinal fortitude.

The class of 1981 graduated on May 31, 1981 in the Dwenger gym. Parents, family, and friends looked on as 220 seniors received their diplomas. Mr. Fred Tone was the guest speaker, giving the graduates some words of encouragement as they begin this new part of their lives. Diplomas were given out by Mr. Gaughan. The rest of the afternoon was spent celebrating the accomplishments of the class of 1981.

Seniors share with each other the joy of graduation.

Mr. Tone gave a moving speech to the seniors about graduating.

The graduates switch their tassels to the left side and begin throwing them up in the air in jubilation.

The senior members of student council present Mr. Gaughan with the sign.

Heather and Holly Huettner, as well as others, reflect on the meaning of graduation.

Jean Botteran anticipates graduation.

Administration: The Central Network

In a rare moment of inactivity, Mr. Gaughan, B.D.'s principal, poses for the photographer.

Mr. Woods, assistant principal, seems to have given up the luxury of his own office to do his work.

As dean of students, Mr. Herber was kept busy determining what the students were up to.

The administration is literally the central network of the entire school. It has a team of hardworking, dedicated people who are willing to give their best for everyone in school. Working together, this team will keep our school in its best shape. These people really let the Dwenger pride shine through!

Mrs. Jehl was the band director and the assistant dean of students.

The Office: A Busy Intersection.

The smiling face of Mrs. Passino was a familiar one in the front office.

Being admissions clerk has its ups and downs, but one knows that whatever the problem, Mrs. Ocken will quickly solve it.

As Mr. Gaughan's secretary, Mrs. Maher was kept busy and rarely found time to read the newspaper.

Handling the financial end of the administration, Mrs. Altmeyer headed the business department.

It always seemed that Mrs. Holly would never get her typing done because she was always being interrupted!

Guidance: Showing Us The Ways To Go

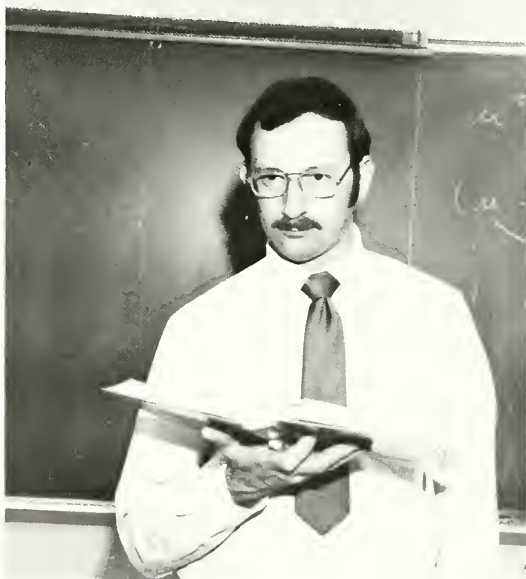

Mrs. Kaltenmark was always ready to give advice to anyone who asked.

This year, the Bishop Dwenger Guidance department helped many students choose classes, colleges, and discover new career choices. Mrs. Kaltenmark, Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Steger all worked very hard to make this year a success. Mr. Meyer also helped out in scheduling. The entire department helped out the seniors who were always asking questions and looking for advice. Throughout the year, the staff was kept busy.

Mrs. Steger finds out that being a guidance counselor takes a lot of hard manual labor, like typing.

What's this? Mrs. Hall is finally having her very first Big Mac attack after a long day's work at the guidance office.

Mr. Meyer often uses eye contact to intrigue his students.

Library: Where Silence Reigns

One wonders if John Centlivre comes to the library only for the books.

Contributing experience, Mrs. Kemp ran the library smoothly as head librarian.

These students found the library a very quiet and relaxing place to work in.

It was sometimes necessary for Sister Mary Jane to search out lost and forgotten books.

During the '80-'81 school year, the Keanan Media Center proved to be a great assistance to many students, whether researching a paper or just getting away from it all. Sr. Mary Jane and Mrs. Kemp helped many students who were unfamiliar with the library. The library also stored all of the audio-visual equipment throughout the year.

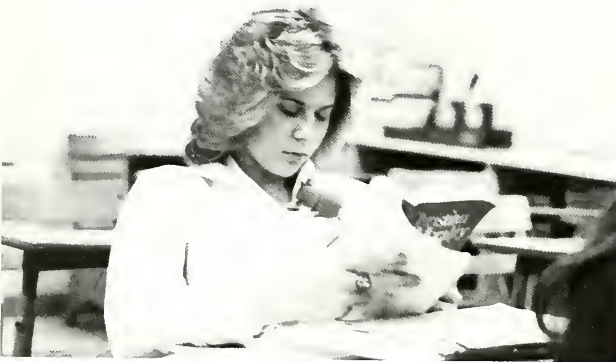

Religion: A Part Of The Second World

Gathering his class for a picture, Mr. Whalen demonstrates that we should all have a neighborly love for one another.

Togetherness is often found in religion class as Mike Dahle and Mike Sprau demonstrate.

Religion usually has a calming effect on people, but it seems to have put Tammy VanAllen to sleep!

The Religion Department, headed by Father Sullivan, strives to direct each student into the right path of our faith. The freshmen study Old and New Testament. The following year they will learn about the history of Mass and Sacraments. As sophomores they also learn Christian Morality. Juniors are taught about the different cultures of the world in World Religions, and they also study the Teachings of Christ. Seniors learn about Social Issues and the true facts of Marriage. The religion program at B.D. is well rounded to give students knowledge of the many aspects of faith.

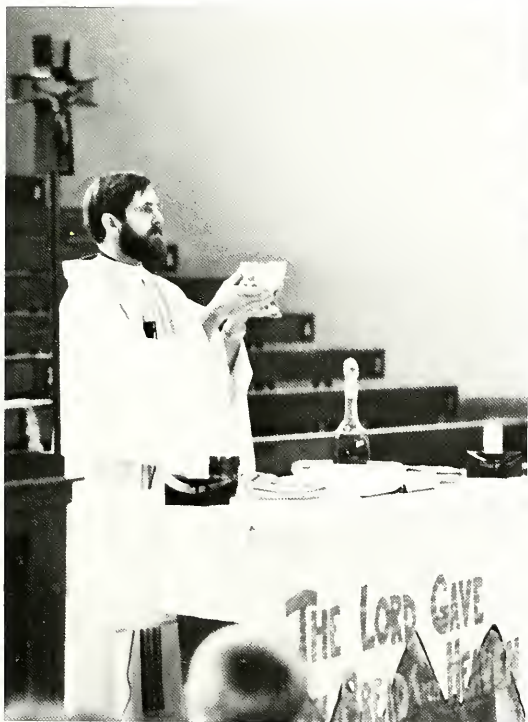

Marty Secrest and Dino Orsine have apparently taken Sister Virginia's lecture about caring for your neighbor to heart!

Religion class is full of surprises as Kris Christman learns by the appearance of our camera man.

Miss Maciejewski doesn't seem too impressed with Phil Potoski's report.

Fr. Sullivan celebrates the mass which draws us together as a community.

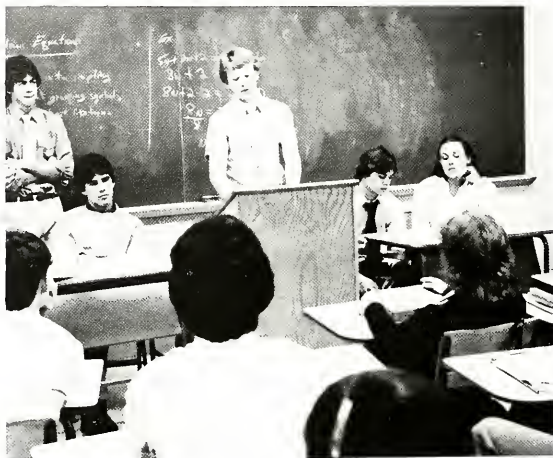

Expressing religion through art is Judy Bobilya.

Fr. Widman seems surprised by the writings of Julia Shuster.

Communicating In Perfect English

Are these students daydreaming or contemplating the strong words of Rick Reifenberg.

College prep students study hard as they listen carefully to Ms. Jackson.

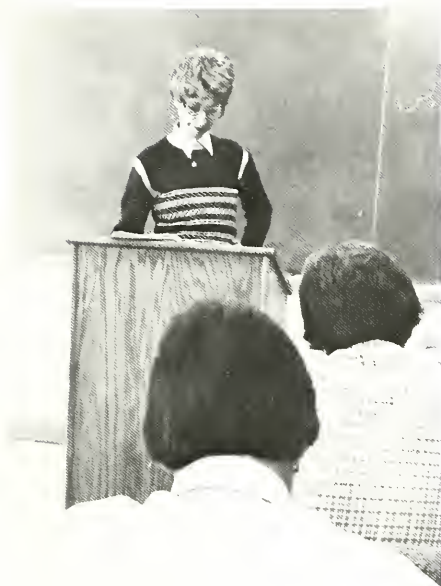

While posing for the camera, Mr. Poston is a "model" teacher.

The English department continued with their hard work to perfect all levels of the language. The freshmen were taught all about grammar in order to speak and write correctly. Sophomores studied American literature and also read about the scarlet letter. These students also had the chance to learn about the mass medias and practice their speech. Juniors learned about English literature and also read some books on their own. The seniors were occupied with a variety of classes ranging from world literature to the infamous college prep course. The English department kept the Saints busy and learning this year.

These seniors find that Greek literature is sometimes amusing.

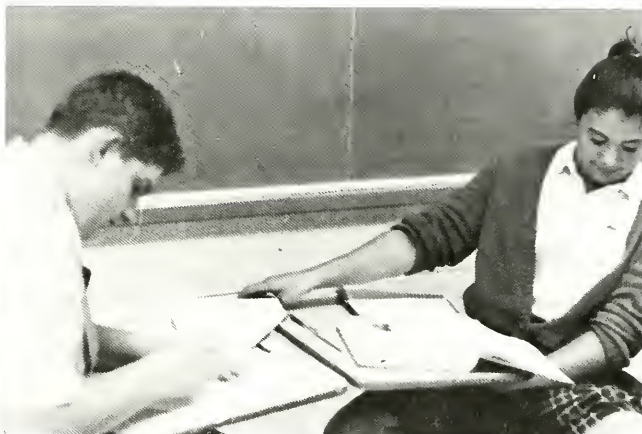

Mrs. Spohn's words of instruction bring varied reactions.

Teaching freshman English is a tough job, but Mrs. Johnston always manages to educate those ignorant people.

Liz Miller and Mike O'Boyle discover that World Lit isn't as difficult as everyone had told them last year.

One of the more fun parts of literature class-Community effort projects!!

Using interesting stories and sentences, the English workbook tricked the freshmen into learning grammar.

Problems Solved

Mr. Thompson teaches his class the far-reaching effects of the standard yard stick.

Gladly, Mrs. Goehring poses for a picture before attempting to solve this difficult quadratic equation.

As usual, things in the Math department added up. Incoming freshmen were terrified by algebra while the sophomores struggled with geometry and polygons. Some juniors were caught up in algebra II and trig while others preferred plain algebra. Some seniors with masochistic tendencies attempted the pre-cal courses while others pledged their allegiance to functions of trig. All in all, there was a course for every test.

Much thought and concentration goes into the solution of a math problem, as one student demonstrates.

It seems that this class just received their tests back. Are the results that laughable, Norb?

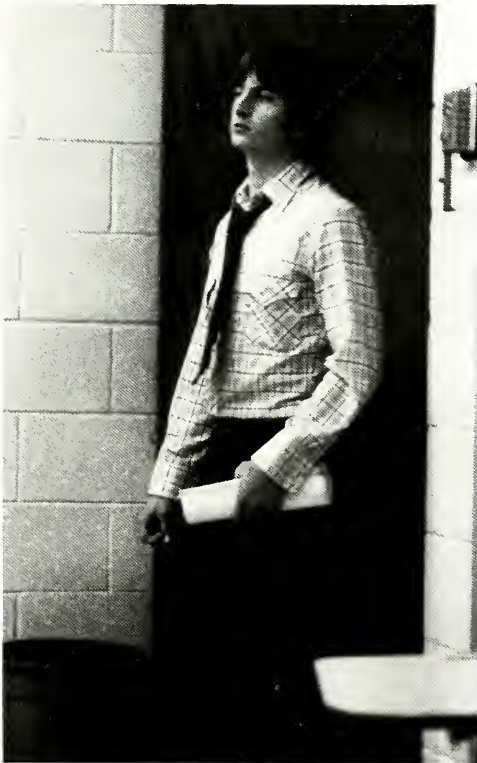

While trying to prove two triangles congruent, these two sophomores go around in circles.

George Lowry appeals to someone on the outside to take him away from algebra.

"I'm not late, the bell rang early!" insists David Dugan.

These students look baffled. They probably just finished another mind-bending math test.

... Past ... Present ... Future ...

Will the craziness never end!!!!?? It always seemed that the history teachers were going beyond the call of duty to make their point. The History Dept., headed by Mr. Ray, managed to complete another successful (if unusual) year. Mr. Tone, Mr. Koester, Mr. Scudder, Mr. Johns, and Mr. Ray combined to make the leaders of history.

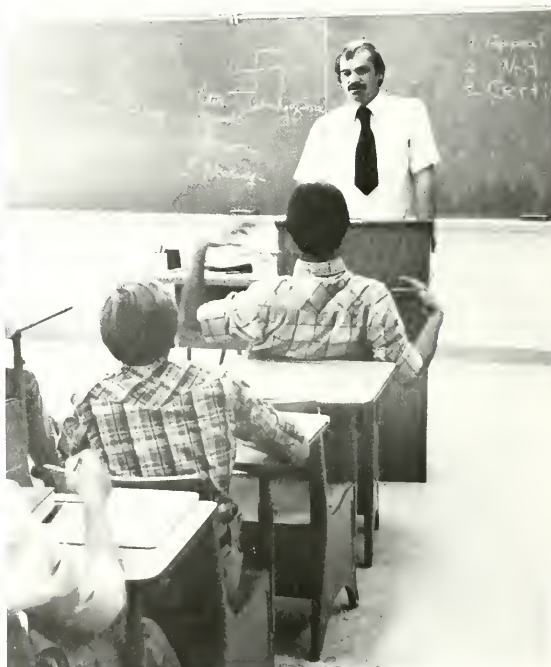

Showing imagination, Tim Krouse uses a deck of cards to demonstrate the heirarchy of a monarchy.

It looks like Gary Emerick isn't too thrilled with history or the photographer.

Some are doomed to remain anonymous in this history book.

Whatever Mr. Johns is saying is having a tremendous effect on the front row.

Shelly Nycum becomes very involved in history class.

These students seem anxious to break out and repeat history.

Repeating past history, Yvonne Clemens and Amy Dobo look for someone they know.

Obviously, Mr. Tone believes in a higher level of education for his students.

Science: Experimental Method

Who says that the Dwenger parking lot isn't dangerous?!

"Ah, at last I have found it," cries Scott Short, "the protoplasm of my dreams!"

Standing near his project, Mike Sasko looks to Mrs. Glomam for approval.

This year, as in the past, the science department of Bishop Dwenger has helped many a student learn the basics of biology, chemistry, and earth science. Advanced classes such as advanced chemistry, advanced biology, and anatomy and physiology prepare students for specialized fields in medicine and science.

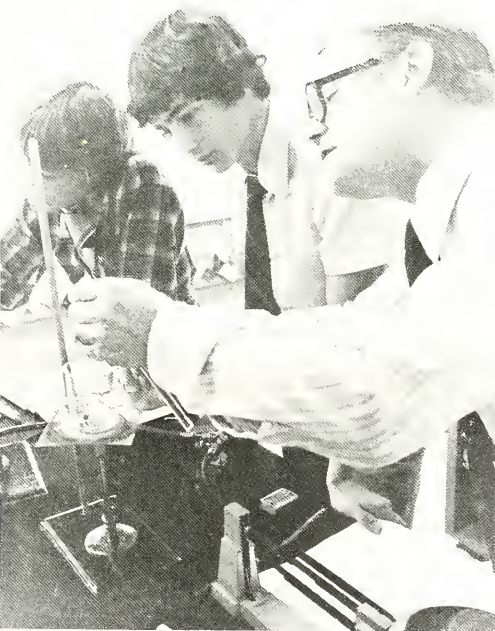

This Dwenger Saint never did graduate due to his belief that a saint is one "who keeps on trying!"

Today's featured attraction Another Germ Bites the Dust. Where's the popcorn?

This small group of young scientists may someday destroy your home.

Always there when you need him, Mr. Herber shows that experience pays off.

Mr. Loney seems to have his class in line.

It's A Small World

What looks like Greek to you and me is really Latin to Lori Westropp.

It is difficult for some students to copy from paper to board.

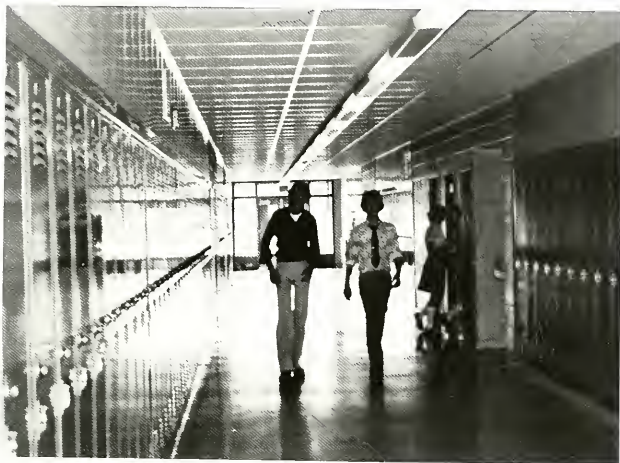

The famous saying "vini, vidi, vici" pops into Terry Winklejohn's head as he struggles through his assignment.

These students heads are starting to nod-but not in agreement!!!

Nominative plural, third declension, and the genative case are just a few of the terms you'll learn while studying a foreign language. Students learned grammar, culture, and conversation. The advanced courses delved into the history and culture of their respective languages. Aiding the students in their conversation skills was the language lab where they could practice speaking and listening. Many clubs formed around the languages and many class parties were celebrated.

Business: Preparing For The Future

Even though the bell has rung, Bob Schneider and Pete Prowant don't seem to be in a hurry to get to class.

In class, Terry Derloshon learned the basics of mechanical drawing.

Brian Hartman perfected his new technique this year: typing with no hands!!

Even after hours of practice, Ellen Zwierko finds that she still can't read her own shorthand.

In the Business Department there are several talented teachers doing their best to help their students to become skilled. These teachers are: Mrs. Flowers, Mr. Krouse, and Mr. Ryan. A variety of classes are offered to better prepare students for the future. Typing classes are for both the experienced and the inexperienced and are centered on perfection. People also learn a lot about symbols in shorthand classes. Accounting classes are offered for anyone who would like a greater knowledge in numbers and figures. All classes prepare for jobs in our later lives.

Creative Fingers Contribute To The Arts

Don't worry, Becky Van Allen, burning cookies isn't the end of the world!!

Bebbie Pelkington looks on as Nicole Robbins completes her work of art.

Amy Miller instructs Marcia Schrein and Mary Jordan in the art of interior showcase decorating.

Here at Bishop Dwenger, the talents of many were discovered. The Art Department, headed by Mrs. Ann Case, provided us with many surprises this year. The Art Department was kept busy with many projects including decorating the windows at Christmas, making the many banners used in mass, and supplying beautiful works of art in the showcase. The Home Economics department, headed by the fearless Mrs. "B." Bachman, was also busy this year helping make the school complete.

One of the intricacies involved in the art of sewing is not sewing one's fingers to the material.

Music Department: In Tune With The School

These B.D. students sing in a scene from the musical "Lend an Ear."

This group of B.D. students made Mass even more enjoyable with their musical accompaniment and singing.

During the football season Ernie Evans enjoys marching and playing the trombone.

The Bishop Dwenger Music department may not be the biggest department but it is definitely the most talented. Under the directions of Mrs. Jehl and Mrs. Levy the music department has put on many fantastic concerts. These two ladies spent a lot of time making music a part of the life of Bishop Dwenger. The music department contributed their services in many ways such as: football and basketball games, school Masses and many others activities.

Many people enjoyed the music during the many concerts the band performed at.

Physical Ed: Lots O' Fun!

Cautiously, Mike Gehl approaches Chau Nguyen to ask for the next square dance.

After Chau graciously accepts, Mike wisks her around the dance floor.

These freshmen appear to be really enjoying square dancing!

Maureen Jehl finds that hitting the "birdie" isn't as easy as it appeared to be.

Many freshmen learned the basics this year of physical health in gym class. Sophomores in health and safety were taught first aid and were given general knowledge of various illnesses and body functions. Mr. Bob Herber began and advanced physical education class using the theory of weight training. This class became popular since it was held during the lunch periods.

Busy Bodies . . .

It seems that Mr. Karst and Mr. Silk are proud of a job well done.

As usual, Louie is busy at work keeping our school clean and together.

Mrs. Ashby creates a key component to the Dwenger lunch: peanut butter sandwiches!!

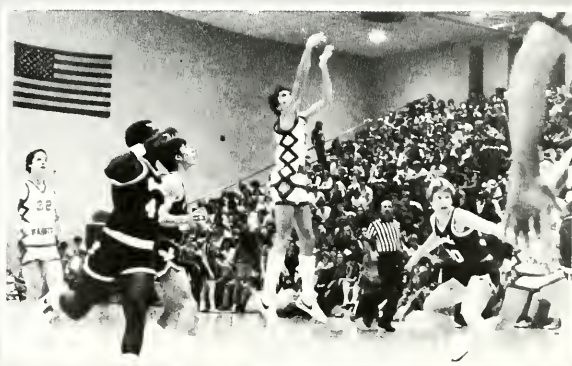

Barbara Barrand demonstrates her wonderful cake decorating abilities.

It is a rare, wonderful moment that finds Mrs. Basset standing still during a Dwenger lunch period.

To satisfy our hungry, "overworked" bodies, the cafeteria staff nourishment at each lunch period. The cafeteria staff starts early in the morning and stays til the late afternoon to make good lunches and to clean up the mess hungry Saints left behind. The maintenance department spends long hours keeping our school looking like a place for dwelling Saints. Without their hard work and dedication B.D. would not be the same. We are proud of, and appreciate the fine jobs our cafe-eria and maintenance departments do for us and for the school.

WHEN OUR STRENGTH HAS BEEN REVEALED

V.B. Serves Up A Winning Season

Working hard was the key to the girls' victorious season. Knowing that had the ability to go far, the team practiced many long, hard hours. Hardwork payed off with victory at sectionals and a second place at regionals. "They were all individuals with great talents in different positions. They put these skills together for a great team."

The junior-varsity ended their season with thirteen wins and only suffered two defeats. Leading the team were four sophomores the two freshmen. The team had the will-power to go farther than anyone expected, and the prospects for next season look even better!

After being announced, the team gets fired-up for another game.

Poised for the kill, Ellen Zwierko prepares to serve.

Coach Freiburger, J. Boyce, B. Houlihan, S. NyCum, C. Fuller, M. Rolsen, K. Ohlman, M. Garret, M. Jankowski, T. Van Allen, K. McMahon, S. Yaggy, P. Kirby, T. Heinz, C. Jasper, Coach Lyster.

Jane Boyce bumps the ball as Cindy Fuller acts as a back-up.

Employing unparalleled form one of the B.D. players performs a kill.

With intense concentration-Mary Rolsen executes a kill.

Tennis Team Racks Up Another Season

Front row: P. Donavan; T. Kline; T. Moreau; J. Berghoff; J. Quirk; T. Kraft; D. McGuire; Back Row: Mr. Ryan; D. Kosarik; J. Altmeyer; C. Hudak; K. Musick; M. Killion; T. Boyce.

Showing good form, Tim Boyce returns the shot.

Puzzled, Joe Altmeyer asks, "Is this a ball I see before me?"

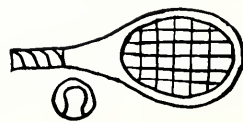

Introducing the hottest new dance of the year is Tom Kline with "The Low Down Shuffle."

The 1980 Dwenger Boys Tennis team finished out the season with a fine record. There were six seniors on the varsity squad. The team was led by Tom Kline as the single most valuable player. Tim Boyce, and Charlie Hudak filled out the top single positions. Mike Killion and Joe Altmeyer finished out their senior year as the number one doubles team. Mike Ohlman teamed up with Kevin Musick to play the number two doubles spot. Next year Coach Don Ryan will only have one returning varsity member, Mike Ohlman.

Football Keeps Tradition

The football season of 1980 was a memorable one. The Saints "Brick-wall" defense did not allow the opposition any points for the first three games. Coach Johns and assistant coaches Tone and Koester led the team to a 7-5 season. Seniors Bill Christman and Casey Kendregan and Junior Phil Fenker won a spot on the All-City Team. Junior Mike Fuller and Phil Fenker received an honorable mention for the Junior All-State Team. Senior Jim Allgier earned the Pepsi Cola Effort award. Two school records were set, Mike Fuller for most attempts completed, and Phil Fenker for most number of receptions.

The members of the varsity team deserve congratulations as well as the parents and fans who attended the games to cheer on our team.

The scheming Saints can't decide if they want to play the game or just stay warm.

Behind the officials back Jim Dixon and Mike Peters try to move the ball up a couple yards.

Jeff Newport eagerly defends his quarterback.

Harriers Give It A Go And Win!!

The 1980 cross country season was quite successful. The team season record of 11 and 4 was highlighted by a third place finish in the sectional and a fifth in the regional. In addition, Dale Drees was eighteenth as an individual at semi-state. Two team members made all SAC, Dale Drees and Scott Reiling placing fifth and fourteenth respectfully. An outstanding showing was made in the Northrop Invitational with the seniors taking the senior title. The team placing second at the Huntington Invitational. Next year's team will have four returning lettering runners: Rick Harkenrider, Mike Schoenle, Mark Holly, and Ron Sterba.

Striving for a win, Mike McManus plunges onward.

Heather Huettner must be thinking about how well the girls did.

The girls crosscountry team had an excellent season this year. They ran in several meets and placed third in the Northrop Invitational meet. Dwenger's girls won the regional meet and then went on to place ninth in the state meet, again beating all the other Fort Wayne area teams. Next year with three returning talented runners, the girls crosscountry team will certainly continue to do very well.

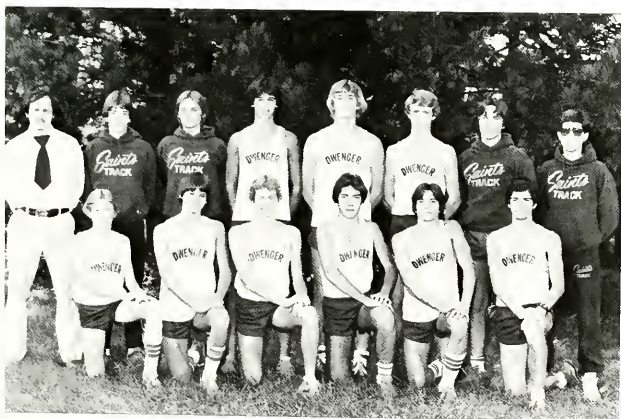

Scott Reiling shows that panther who's number one.

BD's Band Marches On . . .

The band is a real spirit-booster at football games.

The band completed a stunning performance.

The band readies for another fantastic performance.

Sean Marquardt and Rene Pion lead our band.

Small but mighty was the motto of the '81 BD Symphonic Marching Band. Although numbering only 50 members, under the direction of Mrs. Jehl the band became consistently better and louder. They travelled around to the Catholic grade schools to perform for the student body. Also, they performed at all of the home football and basketball games. A major and intricate part of the fans' enthusiasm, the band encouraged the spirit of support and pride. At the Nisbova contests, members of the band did very well.

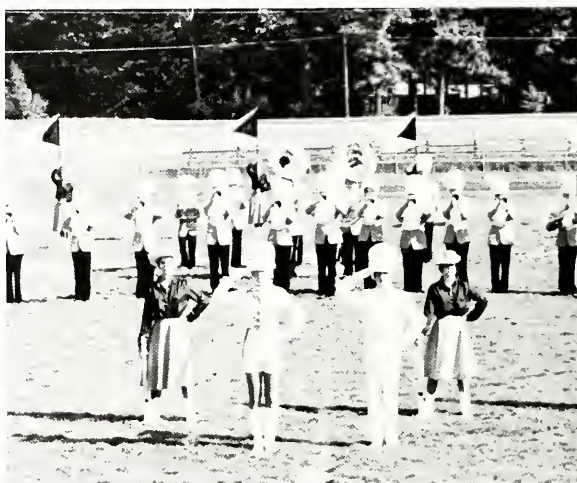

The band helped out the Pom Pon girls during Homecoming.

Saints Search For Excitement

There were many types of art to be found.

Marie Teders seems to be enjoying her trip to Chicago.

One of many places visited was the Valparaíso Church.

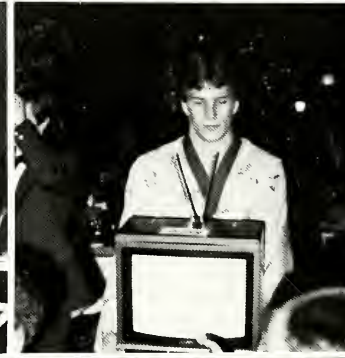

The Spanish students wait outside of the restaurant.

This year not only the French club, but also the Spanish club sponsored a trip to Chicago. The trips started at 7:30 in the morning. The first stops were at Valparaíso to see the beautiful church, then the trip continued at the Art Institute in Chicago. There students were allowed to roam around looking at any art they found of a particular interest to them, whether it was pointalism, impressionism, or modern art. Then they proceeded to the Water Tower for shopping, or just to ride the glass elevator. That evening they went for an exciting four course dinner. After a long day, they returned home.

Saints Alive-An Oriental Extraordanaire

The Second Annual Saints Alive Auction was a whopping success. It brought in over $200,000. The adults weren't the only ones who had fun. The many students who got involved thoroughly enjoyed themselves too. Everyone was very busy both nights. The Oriental atmosphere seemed to bring the school alive with excited people in oriental clothing. Everyone who participated was a big aid in making such a big success!

Academics section was done by Terri Dahm, Eloisa Cruz and Laura Thissen.

This year the staff of the Aureate was led by Mrs. Cornell. We had a slow start, but then accomplished a lot after school was over. Several long days were spent finishing up. A new system was used this year. We had co-editors Paula Mastrangelo and Amy Kennard. The section editors were Eloisa Cruz for academics,

Patty Hudak for clubs, Debbie Carteaux for mugs, Sue Niccum and Jenny Koch for sports. Each was responsible for planning their section meetings and for getting their pages in to the editors. Mrs. Cornell was great when it came to mistakes and she really kept everything moving.

Besides teaching, Mrs. Cornell devotes a lot of her time to the yearbook.

Members of the newspaper work hard to finish their articles.

Those who helped create our school newspaper are Paula Mastrongelo, Tom Steigmeyer, Lisa Hottinger, (front) Michelle Schaffer, Sally Schreck, and Barb Fipp.

The Golden Trumpet continued to provide news cover-as a monthly newspaper. This past year, under the direction of moderator, Sister Virginia and editor, Dave Scheinkofer, the format changed in size and layout. It is now 8½ by 11 and follows the news magazine trend in high school journalism. The first page was a picture showing a relevant event of the month. Page editors, writers, and typists worked many hours each month outside school time putting out the Trumpet.

This year's Golden Trumpet staff consists of Rusty Burdge, Marie Teders, Sr. Virginia, Terri Dahm, (front) Dave Kaltenmark, Chris Mondini, Dave Schleinkofer, and Mary Thompson.

"Tradition," "Go For It" These were the themes of the successful 1980-81 Saint season. The cheerleaders began their season during the summer of '80 when they started preparing school cheers for camp. At camp, the Varsity and Reserve squads comred together and received first place for the best all-round squad. They also placed in the top three for their home pom pon routine, and four seniors were honored individually. The cheerleaders also received a spirit award for their pep, and for participating in optional skits. Along with these awards, the cheerleaders were asked to participate in the Grand National Competition. They decided not to because they wanted to prepare for the 1980-81 Fall Season.

Our Pom Pon Squad really showed their style and grace this year. Thanks to co-captains Jo Ann Knight and Karel Franke, we all witnessed outstanding routines at the home football and basketball games. The work they put in is really appreciated by all. At summer camp they showed their school spirit by winning the camp's spirit stick. Another honor given them was a trophy for the best home routine. And, for receiving these honors the girls were given a "sweepstakes" trophy. So we really have something to be proud of in our '80-'81 Pom Pon Squad.

The Saints Celebrate Mass

The bread and wine wait to be consecrated.

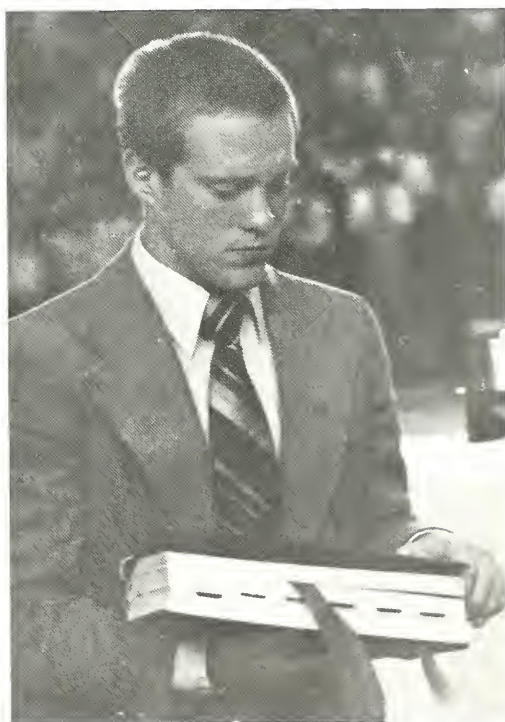

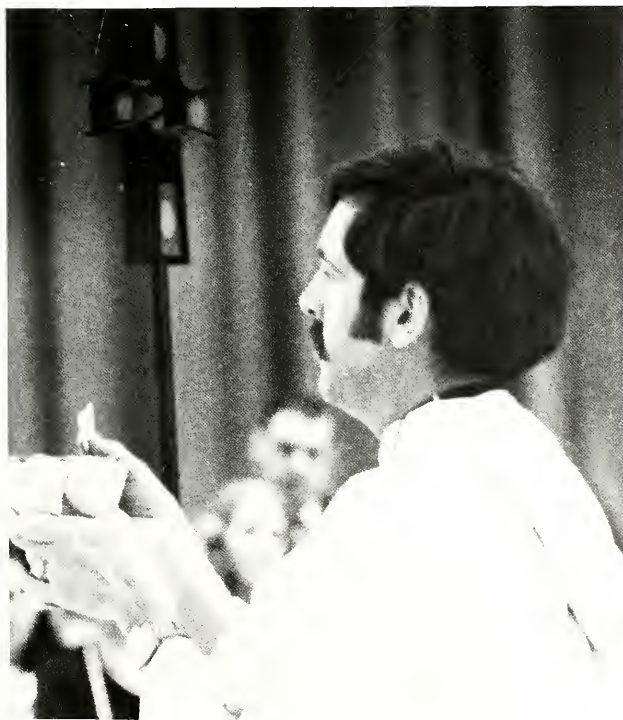

Truly, we do have many things to be thankful for.

Senior Renee Pion aids in the distribution of the Eucharist.

This year the Bishop Dwenger student body joined in the spirit of the mass wholeheartedly. They were involved to the fullest by being Eucharistic Ministers, serving, being lectors, and, of course, through chorus. Some outstanding chorus members performed solos. All of this participation gave Dwenger a boost in its mass spirit. We did, indeed, carry on the Bishop Dwenger Tradition.

Father Sullivan celebrates the mass with the students.

Junior Day: "Let The Good Times Roll"

Father Sullivan giving his blessing over the rings.

The Saints are forever watching over us.

The spirit of the juniors shines through. April 24, 1981 was a very special and fun filled day for the class of "82". A beautifully planned mass was held in their honor and a gigantic banner hung in back of the altar depicting the general out look of the day. The juniors picked as their theme, "Let the good times roll." They followed their theme very closely. After mass they went to Heritage House where they were served brunch.

After finishing brunch, they left for a day of fun and to celebrate with their friends. That night, the Junior Day dance was held in the cafeteria. The refreshments were served by the sophomores.

The class of "82" receives their rings after a firm hand shake from Mr. Gaughan.

As Margret Centlivre addresses her speech, her feelings show through.

Princess Apollo looks at the school ring: the sign of the unity of the saints' community.

Junior girls reflect the mood of the day!

Parents, family and classmates watched as the Juniors were honored on Junior Day.

Bob Jehl, Nick Henry, Pete Kajuch enjoy the salad bar at the Junior Day brunch.

Juniors received their class rings on Junior Day.

"We're Not Freshmen Anymore!!"

Bill Bougher, vice-president; Maureen Jehl, secretary; Joe Collis, treasurer; Mike Schoenle, president; camera shy: moderators, Mrs. Simmons and Mr. Labrosse.

Remembers: None of us will forget the smell of formaldehyde or memorizing that grasshoppers belong to Orthoptera. Remember raiding may apples and wild gingers at Franky Park ... getting into frogs ... F.B. wearing a gas mask during dissection ... trying to remember how to figure out proofs ... V.T. never showing up for tests ... putting down the freshmen

... helping at the Junior Day Dance ... trying to catch a few rays in the courtyard ... balloons for every birthday ... R.W. dressed up as Santa ... "Hi neighbor, can you say _____?" ... looking forward to a new title ... Upper classman ... catching in french class ... and the shooting of the Pope, President Reagan, and John Lennon all in one year.

Noticing a deficiency in their knowledge, Mrs. Klemme finally teaches her Spanish I class how to tell time.

Angie Centliver, secretary; Brian Kinniry, president; Mrs. Spohn, moderator with Mr. Tierney; Dave Nolan, vice-president; Kevin Burns, treasurer.

Remember: the Freshmen-Eighth grade dance ... M.K. singing the New Zoo Review ... the girls using the weight room ... trying to remember our locker combination ... finding our way around the first week of school ... square dancing in gym class ... being initiated and picked on by the sophmores, juniors, and seniors ... being barked at over the P.A. ... learning new languages ... having our own football team ... our first Homecoming ... starting all over again ... parties in the locker rooms or gym ... "Romeo and Juliet" ... meeting new people and making new friends ... being the first to be dismissed from pep sessions and assemblies ... waiting for the incoming freshmen to pick on ... feeling like we belonged and waiting for next year to come.

Between the covers of this book it has been our goal to capture and preserve the moments of this past year. This isn't an easy job and it requires the assistance of many dedicated and hard working people. We would like to take this opportunity to extend our thanks to the entire yearbook staff and to all who have made the production of this book possible. We'd also like to send out our gratitude to a few very special people who had a tremendous impact on this yearbook's production.

Mrs. Cornell was absolutely fantastic about the whole thing. She spent her time getting everything together and encouraging us to get what needed to be done finished. She was helpful in reminding us about deadlines (and especially the deadlines we missed.). She was good at assuring us that our mistakes were ones that didn't make big problems. Mrs. Cornell was great at calling the plant to get our page 86 to end up page 87, and to fix other mistakes of this type. Besides always fixing our problems, she was just super all around. Thanks for always coming through when we needed you to!

A big thanks goes to Watters Studio, who shot all our pictures and was really good about getting additional prints made in a hurry. Mike Kleber assisted us by coming out to the school time after time to take various pictures whenever needed. Jim Arthur, our yearbook representative was always willing to give his support and aid.

Finally, we'd like to thank those who stayed after school was out to help finish up the book. Jenny Koch, Sue Niccum, Patty Hudak, Carolyn Bookmyer, and Debbie Carteaux were a big help in the end work. Without them we would have been further behind than ever. We appreciate the work all these people have done, as well as the work done by all of those we've failed to mention. THANKS to all who helped make this yearbook all it is!!!!

Thank You 183
